Carpenter Offers Amendments To Tighten License Measure

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Proposals to tighten a bottle club licensing bill to the extent that such clubs may be operated only by non-profit organizations were presented Friday to the Government and Military Affairs Committee by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

The measure, LB21, was held for further study after receiving general support from Lincoln Police Chief Joe Carroll and City Attorney Ralph Nelson.

Opposition to key portions of the bill were voiced by an attorney for the Lincoln Bottle Club Assn., an organization of 22 private clubs, and counsel for a group of non-profit Lincoln bottle clubs.

As originally drawn, LB21—sponsored by Carpenter and Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln—provided for licensing and control of both non-profit corporations where liquor is sold and consumed and private bottle clubs.

Such authority would rest with the State Liquor Control Commission.

Amendments Restrictive But Carpenter offered a series of restrictive amendments which would deny such licenses to those organizations which could not qualify as non-profit by producing proof of federal tax-exempt status. "Bottle clubs as such cannot live under this bill as amended," Carpenter told the committee, "because they cannot qualify for a license."

Today, he declared, they operate in "a grey area, functioning outside the law." There are 112 bottle clubs in Nebraska, he said.

Nelson urged the bill be amended to provide for local control which, he noted, would include provisions for local licensing, local enforcement and authority to levy local occupation taxes.

Since liquor-by-the-drink is not authorized in Lincoln, Nelson said, bottle clubs are "illegal" here, "but I do not now have the authority to enforce that law."

"Police Problems" Carroll said he has "no quarrel with bonafide non-profit clubs," but some private clubs operating without hours and without supervision are producing police problems, including drunken drivers and fights.

William Galbraith of Beemer, American Legion department commander, also endorsed the bill.

Sneaking for the Lincoln Bottle Club Assn., attorney Edward Carter Jr. supported the original bill, but opposed Carpenter's amendments.

Private clubs "welcome regulation," he said. But the amendments, Carter said, would "not permit licensing" of most present clubs, although they could "set up dummy corporations to acquire non-profit status" and qualify anew.

Favors 'Pooling' Attorney Jack Devoe, representing non-profit clubs, specifically opposed a section of the bill prohibiting pooling of liquor within a club, thus requiring a customer to bring his own bottle and drink only from it.

Devoe suggested that "legal powers are already available to take steps to correct evils" associated with unregulated clubs.

In other action, the committee held LB312, providing that Liquor Commission rules and regulations must be approved by the Legislature. A

CANON COLLINS... "power thrust on you."

Disarmament Leader Outlines U.S. Dilemma

By JIM WOODSON
Star Staff Writer

A British leader of the campaign for Nuclear Disarmament, in Lincoln Friday night, expressed his "heartfelt sympathy" for Americans in "their present situation as a world power."

Before more than 180 Lincolinites at Trinity Methodist Church, Canon L. John Collins, a member of the preaching staff at St. Paul's Cathedral in London, explained: "You have had this power thrust on you at a most critical time in history. You've inherited an enormous power, but of the wrong psychological type... a power you can't use without committing suicide.

Philosophy of Sword "Now, faced with the responsibility for preserving the Western way of life, you have been brought up to think that the only way to deal with any threat to it is with the power of the sword."

"Yet you know this very means is a destruction of the way of life you seek to preserve. What a nation should do in such a situation should be a very terrible problem to anyone thinking about it seriously."

Asked by a member of his audience to put himself in the position Americans are now in and to make some suggestions to ease the situation, Canon Collins replied:

"The situation here is quite different from that of England, but I would suggest, first of all, that Americans should recognize two important factors."

Change Outlook "Once you possess power and responsibility, it is terribly easy to persuade yourselves that interests that are yours are the interests of the world at large... what America wants, everyone should want."

"We must realize that there are a lot of people in this world who don't want to be British or American."

"Secondly, the psychological power you possess can make paranoia evolve, whether you want it or not."

TALKS NEAR BRINK

—Naval Depot Project $4 Million—

Ag Center Size Stills Attackers

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Clay Center —The enormity of a proposed $4 million, 35,000-acre livestock research center for the Hastings Naval Depot temporarily stunned Clay Countians, who were poised to oppose the facility.

After a 2½-hour informational session headed by Gov. Frank Morrison, however, the nearly 100 persons attending quickly agreed to postpone for 30 days registration of their sentiments. Entering into their reaction was the prospect of a U.S. Department of Agriculture facility said to compare with a $2.5 million industry annual expenditure.

As proposed, the USDA would begin with some 10,000 depot acres already declared surplus and the subject of Friday's meeting, but would eventually acquire another 25,000. Dr. Ralph Hodgson, director of animal husbandry at the Beltsville, Md., research center, estimated that 40 to 50 highly trained scientists would be employed and 100 to 150 other personnel.

"To us, the Hastings land would be an ideal location," said Hodgson. "Nebraska and its adjoining states already produce one-third of the nation's meat, and with this research program the production would be much greater."

The officials emphasized that the potential to the incomes of livestock growers was the project's most significant aspect. The center was also described as an attraction "that would bring thousands of visitors each year."

Dr. Elvin Frolik, NU agriculture dean, stressed the magnitude of the proposal and said that his staff already cooperates with USDA in other research. University personnel would participate at the NAD site, but there would be little expenditure of state funds.

"In years to come the program would be of tremendous agricultural benefits to the state," said the dean. "But if the USDA doesn't come in, the university won't apply for a single acre itself."

Reminding that he had requested the federal agency to consider the land, Gov. Morrison said his interest "must reflect the economic position of the state as a whole." The meeting's purpose, he explained, was "to get all the facts before a judgment is made."

Later Meet Suggested

John E. Sullivan, chief spokesman for Clay County advocating sale of the land to farmers, suggested a meeting later after local feelings are again tested. Several persons admitted the new information lessened their hostility, but it was also apparent objections had not altogether subsided.

"The project is overwhelming bigger than anything I've dreamed of," Sullivan said. "None of us feels competent to express an opinion now."

Disposal of the depot's total 48,752 acres — only 6,000 of these in Adams County — has been a subject of controversy for years. Clay Countians have generally pressed for returning the land to tax rolls, especially the 10,000 richest acres to the east now declared surplus.

Dr. Hodgson said the department has long been conscious of a need to strengthen meat animal research by "concentrating in depth." Such studies would thus be undertaken at the proposed center as nutrition, physiology, and management.

"We've taken on locations on a shoe-string before, and are not going to do that any more," he said. "If we can't get a substantial facility here, I will recommend against it entirely."

Headquarters for the center would be approximately 4½ miles west of Clay Center. Long-range plans call for utilizing the entire Clay County area but none of that in Adams County.

Proximity of the center to the Clay County seat was obviously a factor in its favor. Resentment toward nearby Hastings — never quite dying after the depot took the town's name — cropped up in several hostile remarks.

"We got the hurt and Hastings got the gravy," said one man.

MOVIE HOUSE BURNS

Smoke rises during a fire in a movie house in Oslo, Norway, Friday. The structure, described as the most modern movie house in the Norwegian capital, burned to the ground and damage was estimated in excess of $700,000.

New British Labor Boss To Visit U. S.

London (AP) — Harold Wilson, newly elected leader of the British Labor Party, said Friday night he plans to visit the United States and will make plain there that he and his party stand in full support of the Western Alliance.

Then he plans a trip to Moscow. His policy there will be plain speaking.

Wilson, potentially the nation's next prime minister, made these statements in an interview recorded for the British Broadcasting Corp. He added that a Labor government would have no truck with the idea of Europe as "a third force" between Russia and the United States—a concept attributed to President De Gaulle of France.

Wilson, 46-year-old pipe-smoking Yorkshireman, won Labor leadership Thursday by defeating its right-wing rival 144-103 in a poll of the party's members of the House of Commons.

He has said he is left of center. But his BBC interview made clear he will follow to the letter moderate policies laid down by the party's late leader, Hugh Gaitskell, last month.

These will be the policies on which the Labor Party will fight the general election, due by October 1964. Opinion polls suggest that if the election came quickly Labor would oust Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservatives. Wilson would then become prime minister.

Wilson said: "I hope to go to the United States for talks in Washington as soon as they can be arranged. We regard NATO and the Western Alliance as central both in our defense and in our foreign policy.

"We say that under the present government, because of their defense policy and because of their economic policy, we are not making as full a contribution to NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) as we ought to be making. We would like to see that strengthened."

The interviewer, Dr. Norman Hunt, suggested that some elements in the Labor Party's left wing are anti-American. He asked:

"Would this affect your policies at all?"

Wilson replied: "All the signs of anti-Americanism are in the Conservative Party."

House Unit To Eye Red Subversion

Washington (AP) — A House subcommittee announced Friday it will begin an investigation Monday into Communist subversion in Latin America, a problem which has become a major one for the United States.

U. S. officials and the secretary general of the Organization of American States, Dr. Jose A. Mora, endorsed President Kennedy's emphasis, at his news conference Thursday, on Red efforts to overturn Latin American governments.

The President said Communist activity against Latin American regimes "is a matter which the United States government is giving its greatest attention to this winter."

Major Topic

Highly placed U.S. officials said the movements of Communist funds, and agents of subversion, espionage and sabotage throughout Latin America have become one of two major topics under constant review by the National Security Council. The other is the matter of division among the Western allies in Europe.

Rep. Armistead Selden, D-Ala., chairman of the House Inter-American Affairs Subcommittee, said Friday two key U.S. officials and a Cuban exile leader would be the first witnesses when his group opens its hearings.

Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, will be the first witness in an open session and then will answer questions in a closed meeting.

Russians Forecast Collapse

UNLESS WEST GIVES MORE

Geneva (AP) — The Soviet Union Friday forecast collapse of negotiations for a treaty to ban nuclear testing unless the Western powers abandon their concept of effective enforcement.

Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasil V. Kuznetsov demanded that the United States and Britain accept the Russian offer of two or three on-site inspections a year instead of the 8 to 10 the Western powers want.

The Soviet delegation leader phrased his speech to the 17 nation disarmament conference in take-it-or-leave-it terms.

To The Brink

Western sources suggested privately that Kuznetsov's demand brought the nuclear test ban talks to the brink of failure after 4½ years of bargaining.

There was no indication that the United States and Britain ever would accept the Soviet demand. The two already have cut their on-site inspection requirements down from 20. Their present figure of 8 to 10 seems to be their rock bottom offer, or pretty close to it.

Despite the gloom generated in Western circles by the Russian attitude, some recalled that the test ban negotiations have weathered serious storms in the past. The talks can stay alive so long as each side leaves a little room for maneuver.

Tremendous

Kuznetsov maintained that Moscow had made a tremendous concession in agreeing to any on-site inspections at all on Soviet territory. This concession, he continued, was met by Western demands that the Soviet government surrender still more.

"Now it is the turn of the United States of America," said Kuznetsov, in declaring that the Western powers must think again and curb their requirements.

Outside the conference room the Russians made doubly sure that their position was understood. Soviet spokesman Yuri Tcherniakov told newsmen:

"We have made great and important concessions of principle to meet the Western point of view. Our position was and remains that on-site inspections are not necessary. We offered 2 to 3 inspections only to overcome the deadlock in the negotiations. We now expect concessions to come from the Western side."

No Basis

Tcherniakov said no further basis for negotiations would exist if the disagreement on the inspection issue remains unresolved.

The Western nations insist that an adequate number of checks on the ground must be provided to guard against cheating. They point out that even the most modern instruments cannot in every case differentiate between an earthquake and a nuclear explosion.

Light Snow Seen Possible Saturday In East, Central

Cloudy skies are forecast for most of Nebraska Saturday, with some scattered light snow or snow flurries possible in the eastern and central regions by evening.

Highs across the state will range from the 40s in the Panhandle, through 30 to 35 in the south-central region, to 20s in the northeast. Lincoln's high will be in the upper 30s.

Friday's state high was 47, recorded at Scottsbluff, Chadron, and Sidney. The low was 27, recorded at Omaha.

Lincoln's high Friday was 36, the low 17.

Carpenter Will Try To Revive Unclaimed Property Measure

Sen. Terry Carpenter Friday said he will attempt next week to revive his unclaimed and abandoned property bill on the floor of the Legislature.

The measure, LB8, was killed Thursday by a 4-3 vote of the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee.

Carpenter's effort to revive would be the first motion to override a committee's action this session.

A motion to raise a bill killed in committee requires 22 votes if it is made within 3 days of the committee's report.

"This is a gut issue," Carpenter told The Star. "It is a matter of principle."

Carpenter noted that only one person testified in opposition to the bill at its committee hearing, although a number of witnesses proposed amendments.

Those amendments, he said, were "acceptable to me because I did not think they were unfair, even though they did water down the bill to some degree."

The various groups which professed to favor the bill, if amended, "undoubtedly were responsible for doing the underhanded thing of bringing enough pressure to kill the bill," Carpenter charged.

The bill would provide that the state acquire property unclaimed or abandoned for 10 years.

"The issue basically is whether property belonging to nobody would be better possessed by the state than by those who have no basic right to it," Carpenter said.

Some 30 states have already enacted such measures, he noted.

The amount of probable revenue to the state is impossible to determine, Carpenter said, but he would guess at "a conservative figure of perhaps $1 million."

K. Ups Brotherhood

... 'CHINESE WILL HELP BURY WEST'

Moscow (AP)—Premier Khrushchev linked Russia and Communist China Friday as brothers who together will throw the last spadeful of earth on the grave of capitalism.

Plastering over the persistent quarrel between the two Red giants, Khrushchev insisted that Moscow and Peking now are tied together in "peace, friendship and brotherhood."

Warmly shaking hands with new Chinese Ambassador Pan Tzu-li, Khrushchev declared:

"When the last spadeful of earth is thrown on the grave of capitalism, we will do it together with China."

The Soviet leader, in ebullient mood, staged the impromptu brotherhood scene in one of his favorite locales for such performances — at a gala diplomatic reception. His remarks were confined to Western correspondents and it appeared he wanted the news spread only in the West. Such informal remarks are never reported in the Communist press.

But since the entire diplomatic corps, communist, capitalist and neutralist, was present at the party given by visiting King Savang Vathana of Laos, it was sure to be widely reported on the governmental level.

During the reception beneath the great crystal chandeliers of the Hotel Sovetskaya restaurant, Khrushchev reverted to his old habit of calling Western correspondents over to his buffet table.

Hijackers Keep Ship Well Hid

Caracas, Venezuela (AP)—Communist terrorists commanding the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui eluded search planes and ships of the United States and Venezuela Friday. A thick overcast moved into the Caribbean from Puerto Rico, providing possible cover for the vessel.

U.S. and Venezuelan officials said they did not know the ships whereabouts and that reports she had been sighted Thursday by American Navy planes 200 miles south of the Dominican Republic were erroneous.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government broadcast an offer to give the terrorists asylum if they could bring the ship into Cuba.

JUDY GARLAND FEELS BETTER

Lake Tahoe, Nev. (UPI)—Judy Garland said Friday she was "feeling much better" after her bout with Asian Flu, but will give way to former movie co-star Mickey Rooney to conclude a resort singing engagement here.

Miss Garland, whose reconciliation with husband Sid Luft was disclosed earlier this week, said she was "looking forward to a rest." She collapsed Wednesday night in her dressing room at Harrah's club and was taken to the Tahoe-Carson hospital for diagnosis of a "weakness on her left side."

However, a spokesman said Friday Miss Garland apparently was suffering from Asian Flu and was coming along nicely.

Beatrice Tops In Speech Meet

York — St. Joseph High School of Beatrice won top honors in the 29th annual speech meet for Catholic schools in the Lincoln Diocese held at York.

Second place winner was St. Cecilia High School at Hastings, and Pius X High School, Lincoln, was 3rd.

Mrs. Edmund H. Klemm of Exeter, president of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, which sponsors the speech meets, spoke on the history and purpose of the speech meet.

asked "It is peace and friendship?"

"Peace and friendship," replied Khrushchev with a grin, "is something we reserve for capitalist countries. With the Soviet Union and China it is peace, friendship and brotherhood."

Trying To Hear

The King by now was trying to hear what was being said, as were most of the other 1,000 or so guests. The Laos ruler and his Premier are on a world tour thanking those powers which signed the accord making his country neutral.

Trying to pursue the subject of Soviet-Chinese relations, a reporter asked if Khrushchev planned a meeting with Mao Tze-tung, but the Soviet leader dodged the question.

"This is not a press conference," he declared. "I am here as a guest of the King of Laos and have no right to be giving a press conference."

Saw Chat

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko saw the chat begin and brought over Ambassador Pan. Khrushchev pumped one of Pan's hands while holding his other arm. Then he told the newsmen "this is the Chinese ambassador."

"Friendship and cooperation," he added rather to get the ball rolling.

"Is this the beginning?" a reporter asked.

"No," Khrushchev answered. "Our cooperation has been going on a long time. It is continuing and it will continue."

Waiting

Waiting to leave Bulgaria as soon as they can get transportation are about 500 other students from 20 African nations who were granted scholarships by the Bulgarian government for training behind the Iron Curtain.

The immediate cause of the Africans' departure was the arrest Monday of 7 leaders making up the executive committee of the All-African Students' Union in Sofia. The Communists banned the union and police and militia beat up the students when they staged a protest parade Tuesday.

But the cause lay deeper, the students reported. For, during a year of study, they said, they had been insulted on the streets and fed an indigestible diet of Communist doctrine in the classroom.

PLUMBER PERFORMS ON ORGAN

Sam D'Amico, a plumber who operates a supply warehouse in South Philadelphia, Pa., entertains his workmen during their lunch hour Friday—by playing an organ that once cost more than $100,000.

D'Amico purchased the organ when the old Mastbaum Theater in Philadelphia was demolished in 1938. He paid $5,000 for it and has been spending the past 4 years installing it in the loft of his warehouse.

African Students Treated Like Dirt By Commies

Vienna, Austria (AP)—"We have been called black monkeys and jungle people and we were treated like dirt."

Thus spoke Robert Kotey, 25, who arrived by plane Friday with 16 other Ghanaians who are leading an exodus of 500 disgruntled African students from Communist Bulgaria.

"Whoever among us had leftist leanings has been cured," the agricultural student from Accra told reporters.

"There was more racial discrimination in this Communist country than there could be in any so-called capitalist country," Kotey declared.

"We are absolutely certain that this discrimination was not incidental, but backed from above—by the Communist authorities."

Didn't Shoot

"They did not shoot, but they showered us with their clubs. Three of them would jump on one African and hold him down while another militiaman would hit him over the head. Many of us were injured but not seriously."

Churchill To Get Clearwater Home

A 6-room house at Clearwater, Neb., "well stocked with cigars and champagne," would be designated the "Sir Winston Churchill Residence and Museum of Nebraska" under terms of a resolution introduced in the State Legislature Friday.

Earlier this week, the Legislature conferred Nebraska citizenship on the British statesman.

The village of Clearwater in northeast Nebraska subsequently proclaimed Sir Winston a citizen of that community.

Resolution 17, introduced by Sen. Matt Wylie of Elgin, noted "citizens and businessmen" of Clearwater plan to maintain the home as a museum when Sir Winston is not occupying it."

Man Seen In Stolen Car Caught

A 23-year-old Lincoln laborer was arrested early Saturday morning after a policeman spotted him sitting in a stolen car.

Officer Harry Thompson saw the man in a car in front of the Zephyr Bar, 1020 P. The car had been reported stolen about 11:30 p.m. Friday from the parking lot of American Stores, 320 N.

The man jumped out of the car and ran when Officer Thompson spoke to him, Thompson tackled him in front of the Postoffice.

Officials Block Plot To Slay De Gaulle

Paris (AP)—Military and police forces reported they broke up a plot to shoot down President Charles de Gaulle Friday, arrested at least 3 military officers and a woman and launched a manhunt across France for others.

The plot was to gun down De Gaulle with a high-powered rifle fitted with a telescopic sight when he visited historic l'Ecole Militaire, the military school where Napoleon learned his fighting trade.

Informants said De Gaulle was told of the plot Thursday night, the fourth against his life in 17 months. But the 72-year-old president visited the school on schedule. He departed from custom, however, and rode in an armored car instead of his usual sedan.

Suspicion

A government communique said 3 officers and a woman were being held on suspicion of "subversive activities." It reported a search for suspects was being pressed into the night hours and that documents and arms had been found.

Moving before dawn, police and military units began rounding up suspects. How many they seized was not known. But interior ministry informants said 5 were held and that others were picked up, questioned, and released.

Government sources said the 5 arrested were:

Robert Poinard, 37, a navy artillery captain, and his wife; army Capt. (First name lacking) Jacquot, 40, who lived at the school; army Capt. Maubon d'Arbaumont, 35, and Mrs. Rousselot de Liffa, 55, who taught English at the school.

Police Seek Man Who Dressed Self In Lady's Clothes

Police Friday were looking for a man who had entered the home of George L. Davenport, 2545 So. 38th, and disturbed several articles of woman's clothing.

Reports said the man apparently dressed in the woman's clothing and admired himself in the mirror.

Reports indicated the man must have found himself quite attractive in the feminine clothing, because officers found lip smears on the mirror, indicating the man had kissed his image.

Youthful Folding-Mailing Crew Real Aid To Exeter Publisher

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Exeter — Strong union? Those New York printers should see the hold that Bonta local No. 8 has on management.

Even though 3 of its young members are admitted featherbedders, it's the same wage scale for Laurie, 4, Mary, 2, and Bill, 4 mos., as for their 5 older brothers and sisters. And only the "shop foreman" and eldest, 14-year-old Doug, puts in more than a two-hour work week.

"They sure hustle those two hours, though, for we're crowding that mail deadline every Wednesday afternoon," said editor W. A. (Al) Bonta. "This boss has to remember he's their father also, and keep 'em from fighting."

The youthful after-schoolers have made up the folding-mailing crew each week since the Bontas took over The Fillmore County News 3 years ago. Their hands flying faster and much quieter than the clanking flatbed press, they make play of what would be a full day's work for mom and dad.

"Marge puts in a couple more days or so setting type and making up the pages," said Al of his attractive red-haired wife. "Doug handles the job press and is trying hard NOT to learn the Linotype."

275,000 Bus. Wheat Lost In G.I. Fire

Grand Island — A hangar containing 275,000 bushels of wheat was destroyed by fire at the Grand Island airport Friday afternoon.

The flames were visible for several miles and smoke could be seen from a distance of more than 25 miles. The fire continued to burn more than an hour after it was discovered.

The hangar was leased to the Terminal Grain Co. and was used for storage of commodity wheat.

Airport Manager Lester Lilly said only the block walls of the building remained standing.

Airport firemen were kept busy putting out grass fires to prevent the flames from spreading to other buildings. The Grand Island Fire Department's largest unit pumped water on the flames.

No injuries were reported.

The family enterprise—and the family itself—has been gathering momentum since the Bontas' 8-year stint at The Alexandria Argus. Shorter stays at Oxford and Fairbury were sandwiched between the two editorships.

A real tribute to the confidence they have in their family force will come as Al and Marge fly to the Bahamas for a vacation won in a paper company's contest. One issue will be printed by volunteers Kenneth Selig of The Argus and Jerry Pickrell of

The Geneva Signal—but the kids will be on their own for the mailing.

"My mother is coming from Randolph, so we're not worried about either the youngsters or the paper," said Marge. "But with 8 kids to handle, we are kind of concerned about Mother."

Surety Firm Stockholders Alter Name

At their annual meeting Friday, Superior Investors Life Insurance Co. of Nebraska stockholders voted to change their company's name to Superior Benefit Life Insurance Co.

"No change in the operation or management of the company or its business will result from the change in name," reported President Richard S. Derryberry. "The purpose of the change is simply to eliminate possible confusion between our company and other companies having similar names."

The stockholders also approved a change in the articles of incorporation, providing that officers of the corporation be that of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, and such other officers as the board of directors may from time to time create.

The company announced that after 6 weeks of business, they had at year end a total of $570,000 insurance applied for or issued.

At the time of the annual meeting, they reported that

Rawson Death Is Traffic Fatality

The death of 42-year-old Emory Rawson under an overturned tractor will be counted as a traffic fatality, state accidents record bureau chief Tom Ryan said.

It brings the traffic count for the year to 28, he added.

Rawson was the victim of an accident Monday afternoon on a county road near Republican City. The Safety Patrol said Rawson, who lived in Republican City, apparently died when the farm tractor he was driving overturned as he was maneuvering on the road.

Final OK On Airport Work Is Withheld

Omaha — The State Aeronautics Commission withheld final approval Friday on about $500,000 in state allocations for proposed airport work throughout the state.

During the meeting bills now before the Legislature, especially one increasing the tax refund on jet fuel, were cited. The state now receives 5 cents a gallon in taxes on airplane fuel sold in Nebraska. One half is refunded to the purchaser of the fuel.

Under provisions of LB167, 70% of the tax on jet fuel would be returned.

The state last year received about $330,000 by this tax, state airport engineer Walter Kreuscher said. If the law were passed raising the percentage returned, the state would lose about $75,000 during the first year he said.

Aeronautics Director James Sandstedt said two other bills might affect state allocations. LB14 provides that renters of airport land now tax-exempt, might be taxed under prevailing real estate tax rates.

LB75 would make persons living on airport-held land eligible for school taxes. They now pay tuition.

"If we don't get the funds we expect from these areas, we will either have to abandon some programs or get the money somewhere else," Sandstedt said.

Pending allocations held up by the commission included: Omaha $307,000; Lincoln $100,000; North Platte $71,750; and Alliance $6,250.

New allocations requested: Kimball $11,250, Hastings $1,750, Minden $16,000, Bassett $8,000, Scottsbluff $18,750, Alma $15,000, Albion $12,000, and Neligh $10,000.

In each of the new allocations the city matches state funds and the federal government matches their total funds.

The commission also delayed action on $35,000 in hangar construction funds for North Platte and $6,600 for Neligh.

Sandstedt said a new member of the commission will be named March 1. Albon Hall of Alliance is retiring and a successor will be named by Gov. Morrison.

USDA Economic Study Defended By FB Head

The top official of the state's largest farm organization came to the defense Friday of an Agricultural Economic Report charging that criticism of the report is "timed to create an uproar prior to early March tax hearings in the Nebraska legislature."

The report released in the January, 1963, report of Revenues and Expenditures of state and local governments in The Great Plains, was made for the purpose of drawing together basic data on the systems of state and local taxes to see how several states of the region have adapted their fiscal systems to conditions that confront them, said Charles Marshall, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau.

While some government leaders leveled resentment at the report as "agricultural department intrusion" Marshall said that it merely confirmed the states $30,000 McClelland tax report that listed the inequities that exist in Nebraska's tax structure.

"This was a study by a group for a specific area which is different than instructions issued by a Department of Agriculture secretary," said Marshall.

Marshall sees no reason to get concerned about a study that points out results that are of vital importance to the state.

"If we attempt to sweep our tax problem under the rug through criticism of a report we will only perpetuate our problems," he added.

The Farm Bureau has long supported the need for a broadened tax base.

The USDA report prepared by a midwestern technical committee included two Nebraskans, Dr. E. B. Schmidt, professor of economics and Dr. H. H. Kramer, director of the Nebraska Experiment Stations, University of Nebraska.

In the summary and conclusions the report said "that sales and income taxes are the two productive revenue sources that remain relatively underdeveloped in the Plains" and that "the relatively heavy property tax in the 7 Northern Plains states may impede their economic development."

The summary ended with, "In addition, the income tax certainly, and the sales tax probably, are less regressive in their impact than the property tax, so that further development of these revenue sources would probably align the tax system more closely with generally accepted concepts of ability to pay."

What Nebraskans fail to consider is that we are a high risk state dependent on rainfall, and two years of severe drought can create a first mortgage in taxes on many farms without a program to give relief to the states major industry, explained Marshall.

England's Options Settled

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

With the selection of Harold Wilson to head the Labor Party, the choice for England in the years ahead has been rather clearly set. The death of Labor's Hugh Gaitskell was believed to have created a rather large vacuum in British politics and the selection of Wilson was pretty well verified this. Gaitskell was considered to have a good chance of uprooting Prime Minister Harold Macmillan but this was more a matter of personal rather than party popularity.

For the West in general, Labor's choice of Wilson is better than would have been the selection of his chief opponent, George Brown, a man fashioned somewhat in the image of France's Charles de Gaulle. Wilson is a man of long experience and of great intellectual capacity. However, his party is a composite of many things and it is doubted that he can put it solidly enough together to seriously threaten Macmillan. For the sake of the Western alliance, it is hoped that this is the case as Wilson's first statements have given the United States little about which to be encouraged.

While firmly defending the Western system of alliances, Wilson has said that the nuclear battle is between Russia and the United States. In other words, he would delegate all responsibility for defense of the West to the United States. This would be a fine thing for England, for awhile, but it is a highly questionable procedure. England, said Wilson, wants no nuclear submarines for some future private war. The intellectual capacity with which Wilson is credited might be questioned on the basis of that statement. There will never be any such thing as a "private" nuclear war. If nuclear war would come, it would be an all-out effort to smash all semblance of the enemy.

If communism conquers the United States, it will conquer the world and that is the reality on which the Western alliance should be built. The question of which nation in the alliance shall sit highest in court is a rather juvenile approach to things. Any society which seeks its lowest level will fall into ruin and any alliance that looks for a common denominator will do the same thing. The question of nuclear defense and war is not a question of pride but one of survival.

It may appear to some that the nuclear battle could be waged between Russia and the United States but such is not the case. The real battle is communism against freedom. Russia is not alone in her development and buildup of a nuclear force. Russia takes the fruit of her empire but all within the empire make a contribution to the Soviet Union. It is not just Russia, but all the nations that are behind the Iron Curtain that work toward the ultimate victory of communism. The difference is that Russia holds her satellites in silence and subjugation so that there is no place under the sun for them. But Russia enjoys the products of their labors and the richness of their natural resources. Under Wilson's plan, it would not be the United States against Russia in nuclear competition but the United States against Russia, Poland, Hungary, Red China, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and all other arms of communism.

Is this a battle that Wilson believes we can win? If it were forced upon us, we would make the effort so long as there were anything left with which to fight but what a ridiculous chance it would be to take. It would substantially drain the economy of this nation and tax us severely in all aspects of our national life.

The United States and all Western nations are different from the communist nations in more ways than servitude. The Soviet economy is not geared toward consumer goods and a high standard of living for her people. The Soviet economy is a controlled economy while ours is a free one. This frees the Soviet Union to pump into armaments what ever it takes to get the job done, just so long as there is enough left over to keep her people alive. If all else failed, a contest limited to the United States and Russia would reduce us to much the same thing but what sort of gain would this be for the forces of freedom? That it might elevate England and France and our other allies on the Western scales may be correct but is the common enemy of the West communism or U.S. progress and prosperity?

The strength of the West lies in the combined strength of its individual nations. The stronger nations of that alliance are not a threat but an essential asset to the others. If alliances were to be based on absolute economic equality, the world would simply be in a state of anarchy and such would be perfectly suited to the ends of communism.

Determining The Enemy

Exercise In Numbers

The 43rd annual edition of the Editor and Publisher Yearbook lists 1,760 daily newspapers doing business in the United States.

This is 19 more than existed in 1945. If one wishes to make this an exercise in numbers one could come up with two conclusions. One of them is that daily newspapers are not a declining force in the American society. The other is that they are not increasing in numbers proportionate to the nation's growing population. A case can be made for either conclusion depending upon whether one is a pessimist or a realist. A pessimistic report is always popular with critics because it gives them something to write about.

In this case the critics have a thin string.

Over the past 50 years there has been a steady readjustment in daily newspapering fields with the disappearance of some papers and not an increase proportionate to population growth. But the end product has been better newspapers and no diminution of readership.

Unquestionably news writers today are better educated and better trained than 50 years ago. The service of news has been greatly expanded and refined. The content of news is better written and more dependably informative. It covers infinitely more areas of human interest and importance. Moreover, the newspapers continue to be the bread and butter media for the community buyer and seller.

The average daily paper of 50 years ago couldn't sell against today's newspapers any more than the average citizen of 50 years ago could hold his own in public discussion with today's much better informed citizen on matters of the sophisticated, international world of now.

The newspaper question is not numerical but qualitative.

Deferred Benefits

Senator Don McGinley has fathered LB506 and LB395. The first would permit boards of education to make payments of $120 a year per teacher into the state teachers retirement fund.

The second would permit schools to enter into voluntary contracts with teachers to buy tax-sheltered annuity contracts for participating teachers.

As a news writer pointed out, both plans resort to deferred payments without a tax bite. They are an ingenious approach to the state's problem of holding teachers and benefitting, in terms of pupil education, from their progressing experience and skill. Senator McGinley is to be complimented for thinking about the teacher problem in detail and his measures warrant consideration.

Some of the most important news it is safe to think about has been delivered in recent days, here and there around the world, and we fear that most of our readers may be quite unaware of it. We have gleaned it from many sources, and we now pass it along.

For example, did anybody around here hear that Kentucky has lost its Constitution? Well it has, and the Kentuckians are having to get along with a carbon copy.

Rival Firms Get Different Deal

WASHINGTON — Companies in antitrust trouble should take note of the lesson learned by the Stauffer Chemical Company: It pays to hire the right lawyer.

And who could be more "right," as the FMC corporation has discovered, than handsome, curly-haired Clark Clifford who helped settle President Kennedy in the White House but remained on the outside himself to practice law?

This once caused the President to crack: "Clark is a wonderful fellow. In a day when many are seeking a reward for what they contributed to the return of the Democrats to the White House, you don't hear Clark clamoring. All he asked in return was that we advertise his law firm on the backs of one-dollar bills."

Clark didn't need to advertise, however, to get the giant FMC Corporation as a client. Board Chairman Paul Davies, calling from San Jose, Calif., simply introduced himself on the phone and ask Clifford to get the Justice Department to OK an antitrust purchase by FMC of the American Viscose Company for $116,000,000.

It so happens that the Justice Department blocked FMC's competitor, Stauffer Chemical, from purchasing Avisco only last fall. In this case the Justice Department acted with speed. One day after Stauffer announced his intention to acquire Avisco last August, the Justice Department wired a warning to violate the anti-trust laws.

This was followed a week later by a detailed letter, explaining the Department's objections. Following this, Justice filed suit against Stauffer in Philadelphia. At this point Stauffer called off the whole transaction.

But last month, with Clark Clifford acting for another company, the story was different.

FMC suddenly picked up the purchase agreement that the Justice Department had forced Stauffer to drop, and, as of this writing, no objection has been heard from the antitrust division — although its attorneys are studying the proposed purchase.

Originally, the government objected to a merger of Stauffer with one of its chemical customers, FMC in the same position, only more so. It sells just as much carbon bisulfide and six times more caustic soda to Avisco than Stauffer.

Most of all, the government wanted to discourage Stauffer's growth toward monopoly. Yet FMC is twice the size of Stauffer and has the second worst merger record in the country.

FMC reported a sales volume of $414,000,000 in 1961, Stauffer only $225,000,000.

Why has the Justice Department hesitated to send FMC the same warnings that were sent at once to Stauffer? Insiders claim the big difference is the influence of Clark Clifford.

Rocky Must Regard Young Republicans

WASHINGTON—The alluring prospect that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will possibly win the Republican nomination for president, and just might happen to make it, is serving to unify, more or less, the disparate factions of his party in New York state.

This is particularly useful to him in working with his legislature, which is not at all happy about his proposals to raise new revenues with what he calls fees and his opposition and some newspapers call taxes. His legislative session could prove a lively one.

Nationally, he has to solve the problem also, and his insistent plea to his eastern seaboard bastion can be summarized as "let's not be beastly to Senator Goldwater." Some who do not care for this slogan are beginning to feel that a Rockefeller-Goldwater ticket is in the making.

The New York conservative party, which ran its own ticket last fall in token of its distrust of both Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, seems to be quiescent. But young eastern Republicans are also trying to assert themselves in ways that Rockefeller cannot afford to ignore.

One of these is Rep. John Lindsay from the metropolitan and Manhattan district whose constituents at least feel that he is the Kennedy type which appeals to big cities and states and thus offers national hope to his party. Like other Republicans, Lindsay is on the Lincoln circuit these days with a warning.

He is not only afraid of what the Democrats are doing to the country—in rather restrained but plain language—but is demanding of his own party that it offer its solutions for today's problems. Most important in his message is his insistence that "the Republican minority must nourish the wish to govern." It must want to govern, he urges, and to do that it must offer programs to persuade the voters that it has the capacity and will to govern, not just the voices to oppose.

The case of the agile Kenneth Keating, the junior senator from upstate New York who is up next year, must be considered a part from the ideological struggles which Lindsay talks about. Keating has a capacity to adjust which would fill Charles Darwin with awe.

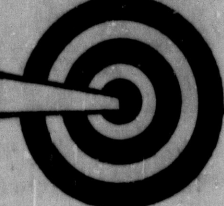

The senator shrewdly grasped the value of television and, next to the President, has probably made better use of that medium than any other politician.

He has a talent for the lively issue and a skill in leaving himself escape hatches even when he is most flamboyant. He is running for re-election and doing it very well.

Of course, the Democrats help him. They have still to find or to fix upon good candidates who can be built up in the time remaining to them before November, 1964, which is not long, as the President has begun to realize.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON
Quite a week at the Legislature.

Churchill became a Nebraska; an 88-year-old bearded, former senator strode up and down the legislative aisle, talking close to the scene describes the situation, it is already hitting the fan.

And now, in addition to the statewide clash among various major districts, there has been added a rough-and-tumble legislative collision between Consumers and some Lincoln interests, including the city government and Capital City business-men.

We would make no judgment on whether the proposed plan to acquire management of CPPD's Lincoln property prior to 1972 is wise or fair.

But we do have one simple (open to various interpretations) opinion to offer, and that is this: Consumers has not been treated fairly in some quarters.

Consumers should have a full opportunity to express its case, in as much detail and with as much emphasis as the city and its business interests have been provided. The duty of informing the public demands that both sides in any public dispute be given equal access to the citizen's ear. Only in that manner can the citizen make a reasonable judgment.

I believe this newspaper is willing to offer the city and Consumers equal opportunity.

Admittedly, LB220 will be progress. It may settle a good share of public power's nagging problems. And, as such, it may be as far as the Legislature will be willing to go.

Meanwhile, the power battle is growing increasingly bitter. As one gentleman close to the scene describes the situation, it is already hitting the fan.

There'll probably be thousands of people out on foot this weekend. Some for 15 or 20 hours. And some bouncing basketballs.

Somehow most of the people I know have resisted the fad. At least I haven't passed any.

All that rambling brings us full circle, back to Sir Winston, our fellow Nebraskan.

Perhaps we ought to consider putting this good idea to more use. It might serve us as a diplomatic weapon in cold war.

Well, best that we settle for the great man of our century. Churchill puts us in very good company. Kudos to Sam Klaver, Marv Stromer and their fellow lawmakers—they have honored us all.

How'd I do, Clarence?

You know, this walking jag could shake the American economy.

Can't help thinking it was all started by a shoe manufacturer. Or a foot doctor. Or the drive-in refreshment stand. Maybe even a frustrated traffic engineer.

In any event, you can be sure it didn't get its start from the car dealer, or the filling station operator, or the radio disc jockey.

State Is To Blame

Lincoln, Neb.
I came to Nebraska just a few years ago so I am not familiar with the great movement some 20 years back which evicted private power from the state and ventured into a public power program.

I find rates and service very good here, but an unusual amount of impatience in the Legislature and a lot of suing and haggling between the power districts.

Let me say that whoever set up the program is responsible for most of the trouble. You have an inter-agency situation in which everyone is a sergeant and no one is a captain and where each is partly in the business of every other one. No wonder you've got a dog fight.

All Nebraska needs is a reasonably regulated total electric power agency handling all the matters of generation, transmission and sale, wholesale to the REA's and to such cities as wish to manage their own service. Beyond selling their electric power at a fair price to the electric utility, the irrigation interests should address their energies to the better task of pushing reclamation and irrigation into so much of the state that has none and badly needs some.

Retread Senators

Comstock, Neb.
Here in Nebraska they have been studying the tax situation and equalizing the property tax for a good business rezoning of some 245 acres and stated that the zoning would "further bleed the downtown business district."

In other words, Mr. Broden and the City Council are saying property owners right inside the city limits in this area and those in the three-mile limit must indirectly financially support the downtown expansion of investments in property. I do not think this is right. The City Council should not have the power to tell any property owner outside the city limits what he can do with his property.

New legislation has been introduced (LB531) by outside senators to repeal all zoning powers of the city of Lincoln, including its three-mile radius outside the city limits. Another bill (LB533) would abolish the county zoning law and county planning commission. A third bill (LB709) would cut the zoning jurisdiction of Lincoln outside its limits from three miles to one mile.

I think it would be all right to elect six or seven more senators, all right. But I think they should keep them for spares, like one keeps an extra tire for his car. Then if a senator got his honesty punctured, we could — if we thought he was worth it — patch him up. If not, we could just get rid of him.

If Nebraska is considered an honest and religious state and with honest senators, I wonder how we get the kind of tax laws on the books that we now have. When they make laws that tax the farmer at a rate nearly eight times as much as the non-farmer. It is hard to figure out just what is honest and fair about that kind of a law.

What Nebraska needs most is more taxpayers and fewer free-loaders.

By Ed. Reed

"Of course I'm slow at it—I wasn't in the third grade yesterday."

Low-Cost Apartments Would Meet Needs Of Elders

For years I've been trumpeting my theory that the housing dilemma of elders could be solved if comfortable, one-room apartments were created in cities everywhere to rent for as little as $25 a month.

My arithmetic suggested that such an apartment would yield rentals of $300 a year, or $7,500 in 25 years—enough to finance concrete-block construction of basic housing which would seem luxurious by contrast to low-income elders otherwise doomed to remain in dilapidated homes, ramshackle apartments and squalid rooming houses.

But architects to whom I broached the idea smiled tolerantly and asked if I were an architect or engineer. When I'd shake my head they'd reply, "Well, it's obvious you know little about construction costs today."

Thus it's personally gratifying to learn that Edward Wagnonsomer of Detroit, Mich., has proved my theory to be sound. He may be only 38 years old but he has built a splendid reputation as a builder of residential housing. His most recent project is a 56-unit development for older people.

Incredible as it may seem, the units, which meet all government specifications, are renting for just $22 a month. And even more astonishing, Wagnonsomer is using his own money and expects to reap a 6% profit on his investment over the next 25 years.

He's teamed up with Monsignor Wilbur F. Sued-kamp, a Roman Catholic prelate who provided the land on which the units are built—land adjoining a flourishing center for elders known as Kundig Center which the monsignor has developed at Ash and Lawton Streets in the Auto Capital.

When I visited Msgr. Suedkamp recently I asked by what magic Wagnonsomer has achieved construction costs which permit what appears to be the lowest rentals yet.

"No magic is involved," he replied calmly, just experience and imagination. Dr. Wagnonsomer is a brilliant, knowledgeable young man imbued with the idea that private enterprise should and can provide decent housing for elders with the lowest incomes.

"Our new project consists of two structures resembling motels—each with 28 units. Each apartment has a large, carpeted room with its own heat control, closet, tiled bath, and 'servicette' for preparing snacks. Regular meals and recreation are taken at the Center.

"We are not offering luxury, but we are offering cozy, substantial housing for elders who need a place to live in comfort and dignity at a minimum rental.

"The real housing problem among the aged today," he concluded, "is not among those of moderate means, but among those with very low incomes of $100 a month or less. And we're very proud of this development which proves that private enterprise can solve this problem without a nickel of government aid."

"This project may well be the most significant venture in housing today. If Edward Wagnonsomer can create basic housing units to rent for $22 a month, and still make 6% profits, there should be no need to talk further about housing crises. Let's just get the President to pin a medal on this young man and give him the opportunity to share his genius with the rest of the country.

The Lincoln Star 5

Meet Star Carrier Royce Hershberger

Royce Hershberger does a fine job operating his Lincoln Star newspaper route in Milford, Nebraska. He has made many friends along the way with his early morning delivery service.

Royce likes most sports, with basketball being his favorite. He likes swimming and also finds time to ice skate, roller skate, and collect rocks. He has a fine model car collection and enjoys hunting and fishing. He attends the Bellwood Menonite Church and is very active in Youth Church work.

Royce has bought a new bicycle and added to his savings account through a systematic savings plan. Royce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hershberger, believe the responsibility learned and the ambitions created from his route will stay with Royce the rest of his life.

Any young man interested in carrying a Lincoln Star newspaper route should write to the State Carrier Department of the Lincoln Star in Lincoln 1, Nebraska.

Medical Leaders Challenged To 'Clean Their Own House'

Chicago (UPI) — A union leader Friday challenged the leaders of the medical profession to "clean their own house of unfair practices and unjustifiably increasing costs."

If this isn't done, Joseph F. Burke, Philadelphia, warned the doctors, "you will suffer."

Burke, president of Local Union No. 19 of the Sheet

Metal Workers' International Association, was one of 300 health insurance experts invited to attend the Congress on Voluntary Health Insurance and Prepayment sponsored by the American Medical Association (AMA).

Insurance Praised

Others on the program praised private health insurance and warned that the Kennedy administration will again press for passage of Social Security health care legislation.

Burke said the AMA raises big money to carry on its legislative battles "while the labor movement has but little comparatively."

"We do, however, have the advantage of the fact that there are more of us," he warned.

Offerman: 'Americans Willing To Pay More For Health Care'

Americans "have demonstrated their willingness to pay more for their health care protection," Dr. Arthur J. Offerman, president of the Nebraska Medical Service, said Friday.

This, Offerman said, is "provided that the coverage they receive is comprehensive in scope and provides reasonable guarantee that future medical bills will be adequately covered."

public has adopted the principle of prepayment as a necessary part of family security."

He said, "Blue Shield and the medical profession are today dedicated to a common goal — the preservation of our voluntary health care system."

Offerman warned that the Kennedy administration "will again press for passage of Social Security health care legislation." He said, "Every physician in the United States must take it upon himself to bring the facts of American medicine and voluntary prepayment before the public."

Reasonable Prices

"Our position," he said, "is, essentially, that our people want adequate medical care when needed, that they want to pay for it at reasonable prices, that they desire to have something to say about how it will be provided and paid for, and that the Social Security method is . . . preferable."

He indicated that just as a few unsavory persons could destroy the image of labor leaders, so could a few doctors discolor the public attitude toward the medical profession.

"Unless something truly effective is done to clean your own house of unfair practices and unjustifiably increasing costs," Burke told the doctors, "you will suffer as we have and are."

The meeting attracted representatives of medicine, labor, management, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield organizations and the private insurance industry.

140 Million Insured

Offerman said that about 140 million Americans have some form of health care protection and "this indicates the extent to which the American

James N. Ackerman was re-elected president of the Lincoln Community Council at the annual meeting Friday which marked the 40th anniversary of the Lincoln Community Chest and Council.

Other Council officers elected are Thomas C. Woods Jr., first vice president; Harry Simon, second vice president; Willard Townsend, 3rd vice president, and Mrs. George Holyoke, 4th vice president.

Ackerman, the Rev. Ford Forsythe, John Gage, Henry Greenwalt, Herbert Hopkins, Mrs. Doris Knapp, the Rev. Edward Tuckek and Woods were named to the Council executive committee.

New members of the Community Chest board of directors are: Glenn E. Bonacker, Mrs. Gene Christensen, William Gold, Samuel E. Haupt, Kenneth P. Lewis, John C. Mason, Mrs. William Mowbray, John E. Olsson, Harry P. Seaward, Joseph Soshnik and Mrs. Glenn Yaussi.

Bonacker, Gold, Fred Herrington, Lewis, Walter Nolte and Thomas Pansing were elected to the Chest executive committee.

Vern Hedge, founder of the Lincoln Community Chest and Council in 1923 cut the anniversary cake as part of the noon-luncheon celebration.

revised. Baghdad radio reported earlier that several sheiks and feudal landowners had been jailed for violating land reform.

Minister of State Hazem Jawad outlined at a news conference the measures the revolutionary council intends to take to clear away leftovers of strongman Abdel Karim Kassem. Kassem was overthrown a week ago and shot a day later.

The new military governor announced that several members of the agrarian reform ministry had been arrested and indicated they were Communists.

Jawad said supporters of Kassem will be tried in public "and much better than in Kassem's time." Kassem resorted to dramatic public trials that sent many off to summary execution.

The regime is seeking a peaceful solution to the rebellion of Kurdish tribesmen in mountainous northern Iraq, Jawad said. The Kurds waged an 18-month war against Kassem's forces. Kurdish leaders have asked the new regime for the same conditions they demanded from Kassem, self rule within the republic.

Jawad said the new revolutionary government would enter into negotiations with the Iraq Petroleum Co. (IPC) if any changes are required in the present oil agreements. He added that "the government will honor its obligations."

Auction Control Bill Advances After Battle

The legislators went round and round for nearly two hours Friday on a bill which would require approval of an 8-member board before a new livestock auction barn could go into operation.

There was sharp disagreement on the merit of the measure, LB268, introduced by Sens. George Gerdes of Alliance and Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud.

It was finally given preliminary approval 24-10 after two kill attempts by Sen. William B. Brandt of Unadilla. The first lost, 17-21, and the second, 16-20.

Earlier Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont fought vigorously for an amendment which would have replaced the board with the director of agriculture in administering the law.

Under the bill, the board would be made up of 6 members appointed by the governor, the director of agriculture, and the state veterinarian.

Rasmussen said the board would eventually be "oriented" in favor of the sale barn operators and the sale barn association which was supporting the bill.

The proposal contains a "grandfather" clause, meaning it would not affect any of the 106 sale rings now in existence.

Gerdes argued the bill is "a preventive measure," aimed at protecting farmers who patronize sale barns and also keeping unqualified persons from getting involved in operation of an auction operation.

Sen. Frank Nelson of

O'Neill, chairman of the Agriculture Committee which approved the bill on a 5-2 vote, said the 8-man board would be "fair" and would be made up of representatives of various agricultural interests.

Less Than Half Members
Brandt said he understood less than half of the operators of the 106 barns in existence are members of the association supporting the bill.

"This is a bill asked for by the large livestock rings who want to get control of all livestock markets in Nebraska," he charged.

He added the measure would restrict competition.

Brandt and Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff both argued Nebraska is one of the last strongholds of the free enterprise system and that an individual living here "should have the right to go broke as long as he doesn't hurt anyone else while doing it."

Under an amendment submitted by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, the people of a community would have some say in whether they wanted an auction ring established in their town.

Also given preliminary approval were LB273 and LB287, Judiciary Committee bills making minor changes in present statutes.

Foster Resolution Would Ban Ads On Power Legislation

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer
Sen. Clifton Foster of Bradshaw Friday introduced in the Legislature a resolution recommending that public power agencies "cease and desist" any advertising "intended to influence legislation."

The proposal, Resolution 18, will be considered next Monday.

In a statement accompanying his action, Foster said power districts "are completely out of bounds" in using public funds in an attempt to promote specific reorganization plans.

'Out of Hand'
Such advertising, he declared, has "gotten to the point of being out of hand."

Foster said he does not intend to limit legitimate advertising designed to promote the use of electricity.

He does not intend to single out any particular agency, he said, but he does specifically question those advertisements promoting a statewide public power system and those recommending a local development reorganization plan.

'Intent Obvious'
"There is no doubt in my mind but that the obvious intent of these advertisements is to influence legislation," Foster insisted.

Orme Resolution Lauds Rehab

Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln proposed Friday that the Legislature formally express gratitude and appreciation of Nebraska's to the rehabilitation services division of the state department of education for its accomplishments.

Rehabilitation Director Fred A. Novak reported recently that a record total of 634 disabled Nebraskans were rehabilitated during the past fiscal year.

As a result, public assistance payments were eliminated or reduced in the amount of $65,040, the Orme resolution noted.

"For every tax dollar that is spent 5 dollars comes back in taxes during the first 5 years," it added.

"The salvaged productive energy for the community and state has increased the self-worth, dignity and happiness of rehabilitated individuals and their families."

"Let me put it this way: It is equally obvious that these advertisements do little or nothing to promote use of electricity."

Foster said he has been "singled out by the power companies to receive their wrath," but that he will "rock with the blows because I know I am right."

Foster's resolution proposes that the Legislature pronounce advertising to influence legislation "detrimental to the unbiased, non-partisan approach which must be used in trying to solve these problems."

Watershed Aid Bill OK'd

Nebraska's Legislature Friday passed 40-0 a bill authorizing state aid to local watershed and flood control districts to help with the purchase of lands, easements and rights-of-way.

The measure carried no appropriation. Money will have to be provided later.

LB71 grew out of Legislative Council interim studies. The bill creates a small watershed flood control fund from which money may be advanced to help complete the acquisition of lands, easements and rights-of-way. Such lands, easements and rights-of-way will be sold within 10 years and the proportional proceeds will be returned to the fund.

Backers said the measure will give a spurt to local watershed projects development over the state.

Other bills passed on final reading:

LB249 (Warner, Orme, Stromer) — Harmonizing provisions of state law related to Lincoln with provisions of the recently revised city charter providing for a strong mayor. (42-0).

LB37 (Klaver) — Authorizing a judge, at his discretion, to release on bond a person who has pleaded guilty to a felony. (42-0).

Greetings, Farewells In Suburbia

EASTBOROUGH

It's Saturday in Suburbia and another busy week is nearly ended for Eastborough residents. This week has been filled with bridge, visitors, and birthdays for Lincoln's bustling Suburban residents.

Bridge was the business of the evening at the Keith Thompson home on Wednesday when Mrs. Thompson entertained the members of her regular monthly bridge club.

This month's gathering was a "something special," however, as it was also to say farewell to one of the group's members, Mrs. Walter L. Johnston, who soon will be leaving the city.

Others present for the evening of bridge and dessert were Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. John Faltemier, Mrs. Don Eckery, Mrs. Richard Conard, Mrs. Gary Moyer, and Mrs. Thomas Worster.

We've mentioned Mr. and Mrs. Johnston's moving plans before, but to bring you up to date on their anticipated change of address, we'll remind you that Mr. Johnston already has moved to Stillwater, Okla., where he has taken a new business position, and that Mrs. Johnston and the little ones, Terri, Chris, and Patti, are to join him soon.

A guest at the Raymond Degenhardt home early this month was Mr. Degenhardt's mother, Mrs. Therese Degenhardt, who spent several days with her son and daughter-in-law and their children, Dannie, Joan, Alice, David, and Carol. Mrs. Degenhardt arrived in Lincoln on February 2, and returned to her home in Crete the latter part of the following week. Next weekend the Degen-hardt family will "take to the open road," and become visitors themselves. They will be going to Miltonvale, Kan., where they will attend the 60th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Degenhardt's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Austin. During their week-end visit in Miltonvale, Mr. and Mrs. Degenhardt and their children will be the guests of Mrs. Degenhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richard.

Back in Eastborough after two and a half weeks in Fort Worth, Tex., are Mrs. J. B. McLeroy and her children, Shelley and Brad. Mrs. McLeroy and the children were visiting Mrs. McLeroy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gustafson, while Capt. McLeroy was on reflex duty.

The Texas visitors returned to Lincoln late Tuesday evening, and returning with them for a short Lincoln visit was Mrs. Gustafson, who will be returning to Fort Worth today.

And least we forget, Capt. McLeroy was scheduled to make his landing in Lincoln yesterday.

Sounds like it has been a busy and exciting week at the McLeroy home!

More visitors in Eastborough early this month were Mr. and Mrs. William Utesch of Akron, Iowa, who spent the first February weekend with their son-in-law and daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Judson McDougall and Pam and David.

This was a very special weekend visit, for it was to celebrate the birthdays of Mrs. Utesch and Pam. The family celebrated on Sunday to honor Mrs. Utesch's anniversary and Pam's big number nine.

SKYLINE TERRACE

And birthdays seen to be in the news from Skyline Terrace, for we have two to mention today.

Going back to Feb. 2 for a moment, we can tell you that this was the day that Miss Debora Wibel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wibel, celebrated her ninth birthday.

Debora's actual birth date was Feb. 6, but she chose Saturday afternoon to celebrate with 18 other young ladies from her class at Meadow Lane School.

And a combination birthday and Valentine party was hosted at the Marlin Knickerbocker home Thursday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Knickerbocker's 6-year-old daughter, Cindy Ray.

Helping Cindy celebrate at the after-school party were Kathy Davis, Susan With, Maria Aftonomos, and Sandra Hall.

EASTRIDGE

Several Eastridge residents have donned sombreros and ponchos, and are now sampling tacos, enchiladas, and tortillas. Yes, Mexico was the destination this week for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pohlman, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Zeitz, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sonderegger.

The travelers left Lincoln Sunday, and are driving to San Antonio, Tex., from where they will fly to Mazatlan, a resort fishing village on the west coast of Mexico.

Making the trip with the Lincoln sixsome are four Beatrice residents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Herre and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wright.

The Nebraskaans will be in Mazatlan for 10 days.

Candlelight Service

At a candlelight service solemnized Friday evening, Feb. 15, Miss Mary Ann English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Glenn English, became the bride of Russell Lee Thompson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lee Thompson. The Rev. H. G. Knaub read the lines of the ceremony at the United Lutheran Church, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Allan Moeller, organist.

Mrs. Moeller also accompanied Willard Marquardt, vocal soloist.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Bill Clark of Ardmore, Okla., appeared in a bell-skirted frock of pink

Havelock PTA

Havelock PTA honored Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Campbell, Mrs. L. A. Webster, and Mrs. Doris Ferguson on Tuesday at the unit's annual Founders Day program. Mrs. Ferguson, former Havelock faculty member, recently moved to Boulder, Colo.

Mrs. Keith Buster and Mrs. Germaine Wright presented the program, which was followed by a social hour.

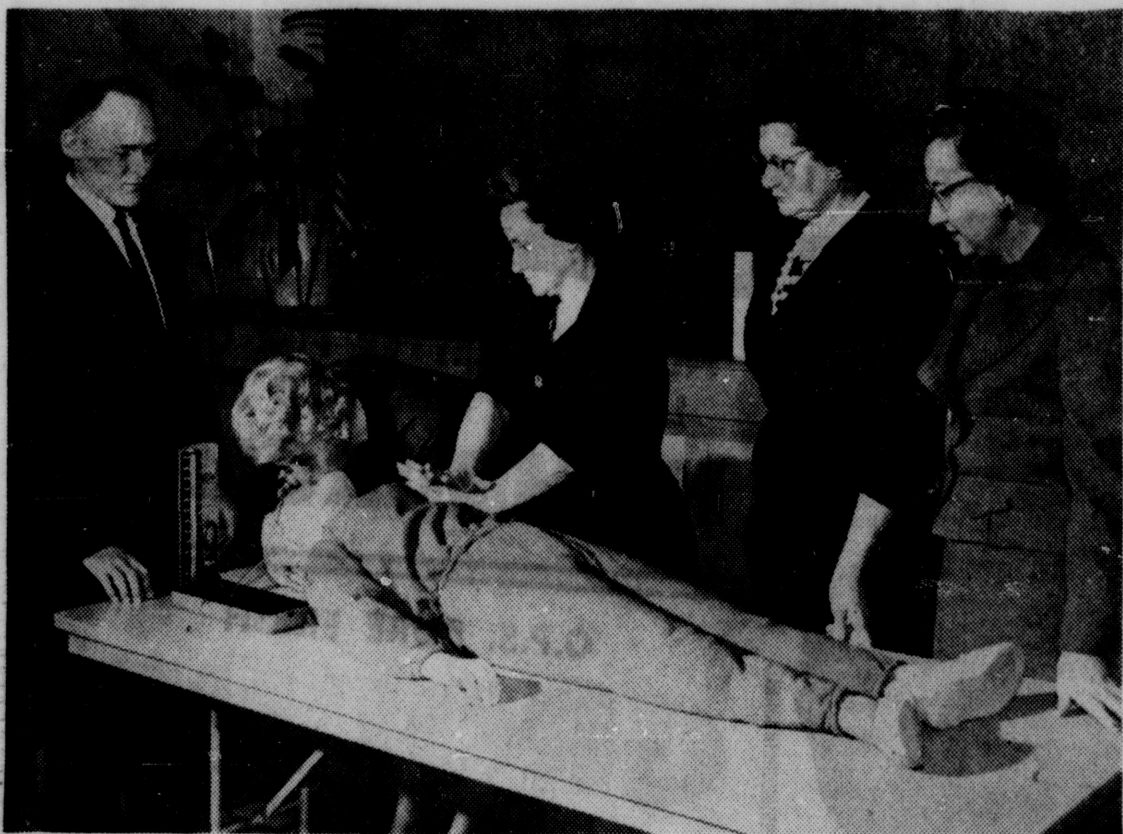

organza over satin and carried a nosegay of red roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Bettie Bauer and Miss Karen Clark, were costumed identically in red organza and carried pink roses.

Rick Lee Olson served Mr. Thompson as best man, and seating the guests were Roger Dodson, Nehawka; Bob Thompson, brother of the bridegroom, Bob Diekmann and Gene Steinhausen.

White silk organza and Chantilly lace were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. The long-sleeved basque of lace was designed with a sabrina neckline, and the bouffant skirt of organza, applied with lace, was completed at the back by a pouf bow above the chapel train. Her illusion veil was held to the head by a rose of pearl-trimmed lace, and she carried an arrangement of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will live at 1604 Prospect. A student at the University of Nebraska, the bridegroom is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia professional music fraternity. Mrs. Thompson has been attending the University of Nebraska.

Practice Could Save A Life

Members of the home department of the Lincoln Woman's Club added lifesaving techniques to their fund of homemaking knowledge on Thursday when they were instructed in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and heart massage by Virgil Schafer.

The program, which was held at the Club house, was open to the public and was followed by an informal coffee.

From the left are Mr. Schafer; Mrs. Russell Eichelberger, taking her turn at "reviving" the lifeless manikin; Mrs. Sam Darrough; Mrs. John Richards; and Mrs. Ivan Maurer.

Mrs. Don Culbertson is leader of the department.

Dear Abby

Indeed You Are Wrong

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has a story like a thousand other women. I am married, have two children and am keeping my home together for the sake of the children. My husband stays out until all hours of the night and sometimes he doesn't come home at all. I have known for years that he has somebody else. Well, now I have somebody else, too. I want to bring it out in the open so he will confess and then I will do the same. I have thought of the children and decided they would be better off with one of us than living in a loveless home like this. If I am wrong, tell me.

FRIGHTENED

DEAR FRIGHTENED: You are wrong. Do you remember how you and your husband felt about each other when you were first married? What happened to that love? There is no lasting satisfaction in the "someone else" kind of diversion. If you and your husband combined all the energy you spend on outside romance, yours could be a sometimes-satisfying and always-solid marriage. Hie thee to a marriage counselor. Children belong in a home with BOTH parents—and plenty of love.

DEAR ABBY: Why do some women act so awful to their husbands? My Daddy has a real bad hearing loss and Mother just has a fit when he mentions getting a hearing aid. She buys anything she needs or wants.

A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell your Daddy to pretend he doesn't hear your Mother "having a fit" when she objects to his getting a hearing aid. Your Mother's handicap is more serious than Daddy's. No feelings.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is almost 16 and she is giving me a big heartache. She has always been a very good athlete. As far back as I can remember she has played with the boys. Baseball and football were her fun. She never played with dolls or cared for girls. The boys come around and she wrestles, boxes and rough-houses with them. Then they tell her their troubles about liking other girls. No one ever asks her for a date. She would like to date, and I have bought her lovely feminine clothes, but no one asks her. What can I do?

A MOTHER'S HEARTACHE

DEAR MOTHER: Tell your daughter that a girl who wrestles and boxes with the boys becomes "one of the boys" . . . and forfeits her femininity. She should start now to build a feminine image, acquire a few girl friends and leave the roughhousing to the fellows.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Here is an odd hand played in the London pair championship. North-South respectively were the British stars Mrs. Rixi Markus and Mrs. A. L. Fleming.

East opened with a diamond and Mrs. Fleming overcalled with two clubs, which West passed.

Mrs. Markus had quite a problem at this point. She had reason to think there might be a game with her hand after partner's vulnerable overcall, but lacking clubs, she also knew there was a substantial danger of a total misfit and, possibly, an imminent catastrophe.

Never a blushing violet, Mrs. Markus decided to press matters to the hilt. She bid two diamonds, making a cuebid in the hope that her partner had a second suit she could name.

Mrs. Fleming had no choice but to rebid her clubs and Mrs. Markus then bid three hearts. Mrs. Fleming now bid three spades, showing full faith in partner and also being well aware that this bid would indicate a three-card suit, since she had failed to name spades on the previous round. She hoped to find North with four good spades.

Mrs. Markus raised to four spades, even though her trump support was feeble, and that is how the unusual contract was reached.

The play was not without interest. West led a diamond, taken with the ace. Pursuing a bold course, declarer led a low spade from dummy and won the jack with the king. Then she led a heart and finessed the jack.

The finesse succeeding Mrs. Fleming cashed the A-K, both opponents fortunately following suit. Now she ruffed a diamond, cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club.

Next came another diamond ruff followed by another club ruff, and with all the suits breaking evenly, Mrs. Fleming now had ten tricks to show for her efforts. She graciously conceded the last three tricks and marked up a cool 620 points. This, of course, proved to be a top score on the deal.

Vive la femme!

Service Circles Keep Busy In A Number Of Ways

BY TISSIE LINSCHIED
A Wing-Ding is scheduled tonight at the Officers Club when the 307th Bomb Wing gathers en masse for the Blue and Gold Ball. The five squadrons all have been working hard to make this a success as this is the first "wing-ding" in over two years. Each squadron is responsible for a portion of the program, which certainly will prove to be very hilarious! Almost 300 reservations have been made and if this is any indication the Ball will be a success and really should be fun. The festivities will begin at 6:30 with canapes and a seated dinner at 8 o'clock. Invited guests for the evening will be Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Lewis Lyle, Brig. Gen. John Campbell, Col. and Mrs. Herbert O. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stebbins, Mrs. Katherine Harding and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill. Prior to the Blue and Gold Ball, Maj. and Mrs. Richard McKenzie will entertain a group of their friends at a canape party at their Vance Road residence.

Capt. and Mrs. John W. Ingraham are having a canape party at their Walker Drive residence this evening. Invited guests are Lt. Col. and Mrs. Fred Towne, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Roberts, Maj. and Mrs. Charles Peterson, Maj. and Mrs. Frank Seever, Maj. and Mrs. Dan Dolan, Maj. and Mrs. Kermit Hammer, Maj. and Mrs. Earl Farnsworth, Capt. and Mrs. Bryan Ferrell, Capt. and Mrs. George Gorman, Capt. and Mrs. Vern Huber, Capt. and Mrs. Donald Lueneberg, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Bell, Capt. and Mrs. Ed Vokes, Capt. and Mrs. Dean Wollaston, Mrs. William Carlson, Mrs. Richard Scott and Mrs. Richard Flemming.

Mrs. Gordon Johnson will be a hostess Monday evening when she entertains at her Eldora Lane residence with a dessert bridge. Ladies invited for the evening are Mrs. George Biggs, Mrs. Gerald Rotter, Mrs. William Schwob, Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mrs. Jerry Hawkins, Mrs. Donald Johnson, Mrs. Roger Clemens, Mrs. David Carpenter, Mrs. Ron Beckett, Mrs. Miller Peeler and Mrs. Howard Vest.

Mrs. Harold C. Morrison entertained her bridge group yesterday at her Walker Drive residence. Ladies enjoying the delicious dessert as well as the bridge were Mrs. Henry Liljedahl, Mrs. Robert Beaudro, Mrs. Frederick Langille, Mrs. Robert Spiller, Mrs. Morris Hatfield, Mrs. Robert Stuart, Mrs. Henry Arnold, Mrs. Louise Rase, Mrs. Robert McIntyre, Mrs. Richard Cox and Mrs. George Boldi.

The Medical Group of officers wives held their monthly coffee yesterday at the Officers Club. Mrs. Lewis Lyle was an invited guest for the morning affair. Mrs. Jon Igelman and Mrs. William Hewett were the hostesses for the group.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Patrick Ness have as a houseguest from Paris, France—Mrs. Ness' mother, Mrs. Olivia Vial de Luco. Mrs. de Luco arrived Thursday evening and plans to spend about three months visiting her daughter and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Lee Knopp was a hostess Monday evening at her Starr St. residence when she entertained at a farewell coffee for Mrs. Robert Walsh. Capt. and Mrs. Walsh will depart Lincoln the 1st of March for Castle AFB, Calif. for KC 135 training for three months and then will travel to Columbus AFB, Miss., for their PCS. Ladies invited to the party were Mrs. Neil Farnham, Mrs. Pete Nichols, Mrs. Jack Truax, Mrs. Thomas Tilly, Mrs. Robert Harrington, Mrs. Vern Williams, Mrs. Reg Davies, Mrs. Joseph Schroe and Mrs. William Carrier.

Mrs. Richard Coons was hostess for a dessert bridge Thursday afternoon at her Walker Dr. residence. Invited guests included Mrs. Earl Holcomb, Mrs. Robert Culwell, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Daniel Dolan, Mrs. William Schwob, Mrs. Stanley States and Mrs. B. A. Quam. Ladies holding the lucky cards were Mrs. Dolan and Mrs. States.

Mrs. William Carrier entertained with a dessert bridge Wednesday evening. Those invited were Mrs. Donald Daley, Mrs. Robert Walsh, Mrs. Ron Beckett, Mrs. Robert Harrington, Mrs. Peter Nichols, Mrs. Edwin Vokes and Mrs. Vern Thomas.

The 551st Missile Squadron officers wives held their monthly bridge Thursday afternoon at the O Club. The lucky winners were Mrs. George Boldi, Mrs. Riley Ulrich, Mrs. Richard Cox and Mrs. Robert Haun.

Denton and Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Taylor.

Mrs. Glen J. Lally was a hostess on Thursday when she entertained her bridge group at her quarters on Sarnoski Dr. Enjoying the all-day affair were Mrs. Myron Piggott, Mrs. John Crook, Mrs. Donald Shilling, Mrs. Arthur Stokes, Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. Willie Moser and Mrs. Forrest Marvel.

CHATTER — in the — CORRIDOR

BY SANDIE LAW

Hi everyone! This has been foreign language week around Lincoln Northeast. Posters are up on the walls to announce it and students are wearing tags to show the language class in which they are enrolled.

Thursday was Valentine's Day—the day when students exchange sentimental Valentines or the comic variety. Which kind did you get?

Officers named for second semester for N club were: Ray Nielson, president; Chuck Turek, vice president; and Gary Thompson, secretary-treasurer. Do a good job, boys!

Members of the play cast for "George Washington Slept Here," were announced. The play, which will be presented March 22 and 23, is a comedy. The cast members are: Anna-belle, Jennifer Marshall; Newton, Doug Hill; Madge, Dorothy Peterson; Steve, Dale Atess; Kimber, Larry Schneider; Rina, Rae Jean Dell; Clayton, John Carter; Mrs. Douglas, Janet Mook; Uncle Stanley, Bob Meyers; Hester, Linda Metcalf; Katie, Connie Blue; Raymond, Gary Hill; Mr. Prescott, Bruce Borin; Sue, Diane Thompson; Marian, Judy Lewis; Leggitt, John Foust; and Tommy, Gary Axberg.

Our swim team took third place in the City Swim meet last Saturday at the PSAB pool. They will be participating in the State swim meet today and tomorrow. Lots of boys and coach!

Our sophomore basketball team traveled to Beatrice last Saturday and was defeated 44-36. On Tuesday they played the last game of the season when they won from Lincoln High 36-33. The team's record was six wins and three losses. You did a fine job Coach Hank Willemssen and team!

Tonight our Rocket varsity basketball team travels to Beatrice. Tomorrow night they will meet the Fremont Tigers at the PSAB. Let's have a dual victory this weekend.

Other teams besides Lincoln Northeast participating in the District Wrestling meet are Southeast, Lincoln High, Hastings, Grand Island, Fremont, Kearney, Lincoln Pius X, and Holdrege. They will compete on Friday and Saturday at Lincoln Northeast. The top 3 wrestlers in each division will qualify for the state meet next week at Omaha. Come on Rockets! Let's have someone in each division go to Omaha to take the STATE title after we take District!

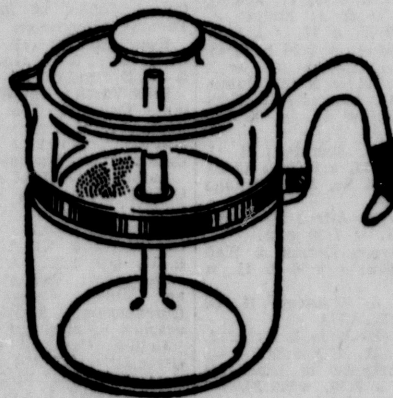

The emcees for the Rocket Revue, our annual variety show, were chosen after they tried out before several teachers. Tentatively chosen were: Doug Evans, Steve Lawson, Phil Lyon, Dottie Powell, Linda Webster, Shirley Wentink, and Mike Woods. Congratulations!

At an assembly on February 12, Abraham Lincoln's birthday, we were honored to have Mr. Quaker as our main speaker. His topic was "American Leadership in Our Free World."

I cannot tell a lie, I'll see you again on George Washington's birthday.

Salt Creek Project Sharing Proposed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Salt Wahoo Watershed District directors Friday approved a resolution for sharing with the city of Lincoln the non-federal costs of the proposed Salt Creek channel and levee project.

The Corps of Engineers has estimated a $6.2 million project with $725,000 as local costs, but are studying plans for possible cost cuts.

The resolution proposed the city assume the responsibility and cost for all street, bridge and utility alterations within the city required by the channel project.

To Negotiate

District officers were authorized to negotiate with the city for an agreement on this basis.

The district will be responsible for (1) necessary land and easement acquisition, (2) maintaining the channels and levees after construction by the Corps, (3) holding the federal government free from any damages due to construction and (4) paying the required sum equal to 4.3% of federal construction costs as representing "enhancement of land values in Lincoln" resulting from the flood protection project.

Members of the district committee, which drafted the adopted resolution, were Nathan Gold, Earl Luff and Edward A. Becker.

Becker, who is also a city councilman, said he was sure the "City Council will assume the city responsibility as outlined" and the resolution "will have a friendly reception."

However, H. J. Amen, a district director, unsuccessfully proposed the "Salt Wahoo should assume the entire responsibility."

"We should eliminate the city because we will have a hard time getting anything out of the city," he added.

Gold told the board that the resolution "represents a fair division" of costs and responsibilities between the city and the district.

Same Pocket

"It virtually comes out of the same pocket," he added in reference to the fact that 76% of the district's tax revenue comes from Lincoln taxpayers.

Because of administrative and legal problems, the district said no attempt would be made to assess abutting property owners for any land enhancement cost of the project.

There was no breakdown immediately available on city's share of the Salt Creek project. However, two major bridge replacements were earlier estimated at $225,000.

Herrington's Hat Thrown In For Mayor

Fred A. Herrington of 3740 Sheridan Blvd. filed Friday as a candidate for the full-time mayor post.

Herrington, 52, is a former state tax commissioner and now executive director of the Nebraska Tax Research Council.

"If I am elected," Herrington said in a statement, "I shall work hard to achieve a truly representative administration in which the people are urged to voice their opinions and participate actively in decisions affecting the city's future."

Herrington said his administration "would keep the citizens and taxpayers informed of the progress and problems of the city."

"Lincoln has been very good to me and I would be happy to have the opportunity to work for Lincoln."

He said statements of position on various city problems and issues would be made prior to the April primary.

Herrington was 1962 president of the Community Chest and is a director of the Havelock National Bank and member of the Nebraska Judicial Council.

He was general manager of Wilkens & Associates in 1952 when the consulting firm did a reappraisal of Lancaster County property.

Ellingson said interest has been running high in art classes and that an English grammar course, of special interest to teachers, has been scheduled for one night a week, Tuesdays, instead of Tuesdays and Thursdays as formerly.

Adult night class registrations at the University of Nebraska are running almost 20% ahead of last year and are expected to pass that level at the deadline, Saturday noon.

E. W. Ellingson, supervisor of evening classes, said last-minute evening class registrants should complete their enrollments at the Extension Division offices in Architectural Hall on the campus by noon Saturday.

Last February the adult evening class registrations totaled 782. At noon Thursday 925 had been received for the new semester.

Ellingson said interest has been running high in art classes and that an English grammar course, of special interest to teachers, has been scheduled for one night a week, Tuesdays, instead of Tuesdays and Thursdays as formerly.

Nothing Impossible, Claims Armstrong

Omaha (AP) — Henry Armstrong, who held 3 world's boxing championships simultaneously in 1938, says "there is nothing impossible."

Speaking to a school assembly, Armstrong said faith — in God and one's self — is the most important ingredient in success.

Armstrong has been an ordained Baptist minister for 14 years. He is in Nebraska helping observe the 30th anniversary of Golden Gloves.

SEEK FIRST THE KINGDOM

Have Faith In Your God

Luke 6:31

And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise

What do you really wish that men would do to you... leave you alone? Try it and you will have a lonely world
...no home, no neighborhood, no church, no nation.
Do you expect your employees to work for you while you forget their welfare. Do you wish others to deal kindly and generously with you? Do you demand that people be honest, truthful, and trustworthy with you?
Would you rather others be courteous, and appreciative of you and lend a helping hand when you have a hard task to do?
They who keep the Golden Rule will discover that it must work both ways. It is "the rule of God."
In every land and in every age it is the basic rule for good living. One cannot improve on it.
If you want Golden Rule treatment from others you must give Golden Rule treatment to them.
It will work in the experiences of every man.
It is the Divine Way. The Golden Rule is still very Golden.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Thirty-seven rural land-development projects, covering 130,000 acres, have been launched in Malaysia. More than 4,000 families have been resettled.

Italy's leading footwear customers are, in order, the United States, West Germany, and Britain.

Germany's 3 oldest cities are Mainz, Cologne, and Trier. All were settled by Romans about 2,000 years ago.

Among successful plants introduced in the United States through the efforts of the late David Fairchild are Persian melon, Guatemalan avocado, Egyptian cotton, Peruvian alfalfa, the Chinese soy bean and Japanese zoysia lawn grass.

The Hearing Aid Industry Conference says the association of hearing loss and old age is a misconception. Almost 3 out of every 5 persons with a hearing loss are under age 65. And more than two million school-age children have hearing impairment.

Americans wrote 15 billion checks in 1962. Pulpwood required to produce the paper on which the checks were written would make a stack 4 feet wide, 8 feet long and 25 miles high.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerals puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4; if the number is less than 6, add 6. The result is your number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. ## Northeast Edges To 52-49 Win

Beatrice—Tom Oschner and Jerry Motz teamed together in the second half to lead Lincoln Northeast to a 52-49 victory over Beatrice here Friday night.

Oschner scored his entire 13-point total in the last half and Motz added 11 of his 15 output for 24 of the Rockets' 30 points of the last two periods.

Beatrice broke a 6-6 deadlock early in the first quarter and jumped to a 13-9 lead at the quarter mark.

Northeast came back with 13 tallies in the second stanza to pull within one, 23-22, at the intermission.

The lead see-sawed back and forth throughout the 3rd period as Lincoln gained one point margins at 26-25 and 28-27. At the buzzer, the Rockets commanded by a single point, 37-36.

Beatrice went into a full court press opening the last stanza, but the Orangemen's plans backfired.

Oschner cut loose with 4 quick lay-ups and Motz added a long setshot to shoot the Rockets into an 11-point lead, 47-36 with just 3 minutes gone of the final period.

Northeast stretched their lead to 52-39 with only two minutes left, but Rick Hamer, with 5 points in the last one minute, led an Orangemen rally that almost pulled out a victory, for the home squad.

The win boosted Northeast's record to 4-7 for the season, while Beatrice slipped to 3-9.

Templemeyer Is St. Pat's Mentor

North Platte (UPI) — Don Templemeyer, who developed outstanding teams at O'Neill St. Mary's, has been hired as coach at North Platte St. Patrick's, effective next fall.

Templemeyer will succeed Don Patton who has announced his resignation. Patton has not announced his plans, except to say he intends to remain in coaching.

During 9 years at St. Mary's, Templemeyer had 8 winning seasons in basketball. He had the class C track championship team in 1959 and a highly-rated 8-man football squad in 1957 and 1958.

Brumel High Jumps 7-4 To Set Record

New York (UPI) — America's Jim Beatty set a world indoor mile record of 3:58.6 and Russia's Valery Brumel broke his own world indoor high jump record with a leap of 7 feet, 4 inches Friday night in the New York A. C. Track meet at Madison Square Garden.

Beatty, pressed all the way by young Tom O'Hara, snapped his own indoor record of 3:58.9 set last year.

Then Brumel, atoning for the defeat he suffered at the hands of John Thomas last week, when he could go no higher than 7 feet, won the high jump with a soaring jump that erased the world indoor record of 7-3½ he himself set on March 3, 1961.

With Thomas competing in San Francisco, Brumel had no serious competition but still came up with an astonishing leap as he cleared 7-4 on his first try at that height.

Beatty, Sullivan award winner as America's top amateur athlete in 1962, made his 1963 debut a smashing success

Nebraska's stiffest indoor track test of the season—and the pre-Big 8 carnival slate—comes today at Memorial Stadium.

The University of Colorado Buffaloes will furnish the first solid opposition for the Huskers who have whipped Wyoming and South Dakota in a triangular and Oklahoma State in a dual—both times running up over 90 points.

No such romp is expected today. Rather, the Buff dual shapes up as a real squeaker. NU coach Frank Sevigne seconds the notion:

"I've figured very liberally and all I come out with is a 61-61 tie," Sevigne said of his pre-meet chart. "And strangely enough, that's exactly the same thing like Hanscom (NU assistant)—and we plotted separately, then compared our guesses."

Since track meets are notorious for producing the unexpected, chances are that today's meet won't be a deadlock. But neither team should have clear sailing, by any means.

Nebraska will be making its first bid in two years without the services of junior hurdle star Ron Moore. The defending Big 8 high hurdle king was scratched this week for breaking training before last week's dual with the Cowboys.

That leaves the Huskers with only Fred Wilke, loop low hurdle champ, in the highs, while Colorado will have 3 entries, including soph whiz Jim Miller, who regularly clocks :06.8 in the lows and :07.4 in the highs.

Colorado has a number of equally adept individuals, so the issue will probably be resolved on depth.

In the 60, the Buffs can match Huskers Ray Knaub and Kent McCloughan with Dick Burns, also a :06.3 speedster. Burns also has the top 440 time reported in Big 8 circles this winter, :50.6.

Chuck Buchheit is among the 600 leaders (1:13.6) and will challenge NU's Bill Kenny and Dick Strand.

The Buffs can also count on Bob Griffith for distance points. He's the defending Big 8 2-mile champ.

One of the top races of the day will match Husker Mike Fleming—he's won 3 different races to date (880, 1,000 and mile)—and Griffith in the 14-lap affair.

Colorado will be favored to sweep the pole vault, with Rog Olander, Phil Roark and Bill Grimes all having cleared 13 feet or better—Olander has a 14-6—this winter. And the Buffs will have soph Leander Durley going in the high jump. He's gone 6-4 and last spring set a freshman outdoor record by clearing 6-10.

Nebraska should score well in the low hurdles, with Knaub and Wilke. And Bob Hohn is slated to make his debut in the lows.

Other Huskers who should press for honors will be Gil Gebo in the 880, Victor Brooks and Rudy Johnson in the broad jump and high jumpers Harry Krebs and Jack Cramer.

Field events will start at 2 p.m., running events at 2:30 p.m.

Meet Entries

Wesleyan Hits 104 In Victory

... HASTINGS FALLS

Nebraska Wesleyan roared to its 20th basketball victory Friday night by whipping Hastings College, 104-75.

It marked the 3rd time Wesleyan has defeated Hastings this season. Other triumphs were 77-60 and 85-81.

8 Lincoln Boxers In Semifinals

Omaha (P) — A strong Lincoln boxing contingent sends an entire team of 8 fighters into the semifinals of tonight's Golden Gloves action here.

Six Lincoln boxers scored preliminary wins Friday night in the Midwest Tournament and two others drew byes into tonight's semifinals.

Two Lincoln wins came via the knockout route with Keith Werner kayoing Grand Island's Dick Godel in 33 seconds of the first round of their heavyweight bout and Stan Larchick cooling Bat Dubray of Rapid City, S.D., in 1:05 of the first to move up in the lightweight class.

Bill Talbot (160), Eddie Phillips (112), Mike Larchick (126), and Bill Edwards (147) all won decisions. Jim Blake, Lincoln's light heavyweight, and Hank Bornemeier (118) gained byes into tonight's semifinals.

Phillips' win was in the 112-pound class. In that same division, Don Rudd of the Norfolk Legion won by a TKO over Larry Rademacher of the Grand Island VFW at :27 of the second round.

In the 118-pound class Dale Blackfish of the Norfolk Legion won a decision from Herbert Ecoffey of Rapid City, S.D.

In the same class Leon Roby of Grand Island VFW won a decision over Stanley Novak of Omaha Marchio and a Scottsbluff Elks fighter, Carl Vallejo, took a decision from Gary Covey of McCook Elks.

In the 126-pound division Mike Larchick of Lincoln won a split decision over Bob Guzman of Scottsbluff and Mike Huerta of Omaha took a split decision from Tony Drake of Norfolk. In another 126-pound match Lee Madison of Rapid City, S.D., was the winner on a decision over Sisto Rangel of McCook.

Ernie Vera of Scottsbluff scored a split decision over Dan Island of Rapid City in the 147-pound class.

In the 147-pound division the defending champion was dethroned when Paul Fisher of Omaha dropped a split decision to Keith Steffan of Norfolk.

Bill Edwards of Lincoln dethroned Don Price, McCook, in the 3rd bout in the same class.

In the 160-pound division, Louie Fourcloud of McCook won by a TKO over Sarge Olivo, Grand Island, in the second and Bill Talbot, Lincoln, dethroned Jerry Apax of Rapid City.

In a crowd-pleasing 175-pound match, Eddie Gardner of Grand Island won a decision over Jess Aguirre of Scottsbluff. In the same class, Charles Stoudamire of Omaha won by a TKO over Bob Stamm of McCook after 35 seconds of the first round.

Heavyweight winners—both by knockouts—were Keith Werner of Lincoln and Bill Knudsen of Norfolk. Werner knocked out Dick Godel of Grand Island in 33 seconds of the first round. It took Knudsen 1 minute and 40 seconds to flatten Wilson Freemont of McCook in the first round.

Wesleyan's Chet Paul flipped in 32 points to lead the Plainsman rout. Daryl Mitchell had 16—14 of them the first half when the Plainsmen hit 60% of their shots (24-for-40).

Hastings led just once, for 20 seconds, 32-30, with 7:30 to play in the first half. Two quick buckets by Mel Hawbecker and another by Ed Stevens sent the Plainsmen on their way and an ultimate 56-44 halftime advantage.

Stevens contributed 9 points and valuable fast break passing and ball handling before being injured with 1:06 to play in the first half. He suffered jammed fingers on his right hand and a sprained wrist. He didn't see action the second half.

Hastings added to its doom as the second half started by going into a slowed-down game. The Broncos shot few times in the deliberate style of play, missing all of them and Wesleyan grabbed the rebounds to turn the tilt into a real rout.

Hastings went 6:27 without a field goal and annexed only one free throw during this dry spell.

Meanwhile, Wesleyan scored 17 points, running wild with fancy passes and shots.

Wesleyan hit a commendable 21-for-46 in the last period. Hastings tallied 16 out of 43 field goal attempts in the first half and only 9-for-31 in the final canto.

Free throws made the Hastings effort more respectable when Wesleyan was whistled for 14 second half fouls. Hastings sank 13 free throws in this half and had a game total of 25. Wesleyan was 14-for-23 from the line.

Sophomore reserve center Bernie Heier hit the bucket that gave the Plainsmen 100 points with 1:10 to play. NWU had 92 points with 5:24 to play but then went over two minutes without a point.

It was the 6th time Wesleyan eclipsed the century mark this season.

Two games now remain for the Plainsmen, still hoping for an NCAA Small College Midwest Regional Tourney bid. Wednesday they're at Concordia and next Saturday they host Dana.

Links Hold Off Late Challenge

Lincoln High withstood a late challenge by Hastings Friday night at the Public Schools Activities Building to emerge with a 57-54 victory over the Big 10 school.

The lead changed hands on 7 occasions in the close battle, with the Links gaining the lead for good with 2:34 remaining in the 3rd period.

The Links gained their biggest lead of the night at 54-47 on a jump shot from the corner by Frank Brill with 5 minutes left, but had to turn back a Hastings threat that carried within one, 55-54, with 30 seconds showing on the clock.

Five straight points at the outset of the final stanza spelled the difference for Coach Alden Johnson's clubs.

However, a field goal and two free throws by Bob Stickle and another charity toss by Hal Smith within two minutes cut the Lincoln High lead to 54-52 and forced the Links into a stall.

GI Grapplers In Team Lead

... FINALS TONIGHT

HOW THEY SCORED
Grand Island 17
Northeast 12
Hastings 10
Holdrege 10
Southeast 10

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Grand Island's wrestling team and Holdrege heavy-weight Rod Melroy were the fancy of the Class A district prep meet at Northeast Friday.

Grand Island scored 17 points for the team lead while Melroy, unbeaten but untested against the state's best, earned himself two quick pins to reach the semifinals.

The meet resumes today at the NE gym with semifinals at 1 p.m. Finals will begin at 7 o'clock tonight.

In second place was Northeast with 12 team points, then Hastings 11; Holdrege and Southeast, 10; and Lincoln High and Fremont with 9.

Northeast was weakened in Friday's action when seeded performers George Manske (165-pounder) and 138-pound Tom Latham were upset.

Manske's battle with unknown Carl Geiger of Kearney was an overtime draw with referee Chuck Bryant tabbing Geiger the slim victor on a judge's decision.

Grand Island sent 8 men to the semifinals. So did Fremont. Southeast has 7 and Lincoln High and NE 6 apiece.

Melroy got his pins in 55 and 59 seconds. The Holdrege husky will meet Lincoln High's Gary Parker in the semifinals.

Parker's 38-second pin over Kearney's Herb Compton was the night's quickest match.

In the other heavyweight bracket is Southeast's Carl Stith, the defending state champion. He'll test Hastings' Jim Hill.

Stith was a pin victor in 2:19 as all heavy matches were decided by pins.

Only other seeded wrestler to fall was Lincoln High's Chuck Goetowski, a 144 loser to Grand Island's Mike Bosley in the 180-pound

GAME COMMISSION PONDERS PURCHASE OF WILLOW LAKE

The Nebraska Game Commission Friday discussed the possibility of purchasing Willow Lake in Brown County for wildlife and fishing purposes, but took no action.

The entire property offered for sale by Albert Fletcher encompasses 2,480 acres, including a 314 acre lake.

It is about 30 miles of Enders Lake.

Ervin Stephens and Roy Stephens of Broken Bow, real estate agents for Fletcher, appeared at the meeting.

The asking price is $210,000. They said the lake with shore-front and some surrounding land could be purchased for half that price.

State Game Commission Director Mel Steen said the department would like very much to buy the lake which he considers good for both fish management and fishing. But Steen said the Game Department considers the price of the lake and entire property too high.

State Game Director Mel Steen Friday said it is very likely sportsmen will be able to hunt does this year.

Steen said there are so many deer in Nebraska now that the harvest will have to be increased. He said the state is about to "explode" with this game animal.

At present, there is only a season on bucks. Does, female deer, are protected so there has been no check on the increase in the deer population, Steen pointed out.

He said there are well over 100,000 deer in the state now.

State Supreme Court Dismisses Cemetery Case

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday rejected a motion to rehear a case in which it previously ruled the Morning View Cemetery Association of North Platte is entitled to receive the full amount of a $225,000 request by the late Maria Hughes.

The Supreme Court also amended its previous order in the case. The high court had reversed the Lincoln District Court and ordered the case remanded for a new trial. In the amended order, the district court is ordered to dismiss the action.

Supreme Court Justice Edward Carter filed a dissenting opinion to the amended order. Carter said he agreed the district court decision should have been reversed, but disagreed with the order to dismiss the action entirely.

The district court, in an action brought by Mamie Root and other survivors of Maria Hughes, ruled that the non-profit cemetery association failed to prove it needed more than $25,000 from the estate for its operations. The association had appealed that decision.

In other action the court: — for the second time sent back to Douglas County District Court for a personal injury suit brought by Thomas W. Singles against the Union Pacific Railroad Co.

Singles suffered injuries requiring the amputation of a portion of his leg when his foot was caught between a platform truck and an express car. He charged that a Union Pacific switch crew negligently pushed another car into the express car, causing the accident.

The case was tried once in district court but the Supreme Court, in a review, reversed the judgment and sent it back for new trial because of errors in the lower court's instructions.

On a retrial before a jury, Singles was awarded a judgment for $124,765, and the court said.

On the second go-around, the high court held "that what the defendant in a personal injury case makes not attempt to show the plaintiff is receiving a pension, it is not proper for the plaintiff to offer testimony showing he received a small and inadequate one."

This testimony that Singles was receiving a $755 monthly pension constituted prejudicial error requiring a new trial, the court said.

—voided authority granted Midwest Mail Service of Omaha by the Nebraska Railway Commission to operate as a contract carrier by motor vehicle between any point with the state.

The court said "it is the duty of the commission to weigh the special needs of shippers desiring carrier service against the adequacy of existing common carrier service. The effect on a protesting carrier of a grant of the application and the effect on shippers of a denial are factors to be weighed in determining if the grant of the application would be consistent with the public interest."

The court determined in this case "there is no evidence in the record on the part of any shipper or prospective shipper of any need for a specialized service."

—reversed a Grant County District Court ruling which dismissed an action brought by Merrill W. Willan against Wallace B. Farrar and the Hemisphere Oil Co.

The case involved an attempt by Farrar to quiet title on 3 oil and gas leases held by Willan.

The Supreme Court said the district court's dismissal of the case was "unjustified" because the record showed that Willan had presented a personal check to Farrar for back-payments due on the leases, but that Farrar failed to cash the check prior to the termination date of June 15, 1961.

However, the high court noted, "the defendant (Farrar) did not return or refuse to accept the check."

The Hemisphere Oil Co. secured the leases from Farrar after being assured by him that Willan, who did business under the trade name of Sandhills Petroleum Co., no longer held title to them.

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bill Would Create State Song

A song, "Hail Nebraska," composed by Eugene L. Clark, would become the state song of Nebraska under a bill introduced in the State Legislature Friday.

Clark is the organizer for the "Back to the Bible Broadcast" originating in Lincoln.

The song was one of about 100 submitted to a Nebraska state song committee created by the 1961 Legislature for the purpose of selecting a state song.

The bill to give state recognition to the Clark song was introduced by the Government and Military Affairs Committee headed by Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud.

It became the 753rd bill of the session.
